BRITISH ARE CONFIDENT

Believe Small But Highly Mobile Defenses Can Wreck
Il Duce's 2nd Campaign

By W. P. Saphir

CAIRO, Aug. 7.—Colonial Italy struck today at the British empire on the battlefronts of Africa against a British strategy that calls for annihilation of the invaders before the main objectives are attained.

In a "three-pronged" offensive patterned on the German model, Italian troops surged across the borders of British Somaliland, obviously heading for Berbera to seek control of Aden and the southern entrance to the Suez Canal.

British military authorities were confident that their small but highly mobile defenses would suffice to wreck Mussolini's second African campaign. These authorities held that initial reports of the Italian offensive were vastly exaggerated.

In the first place, they said, the frontier between Libya and Egypt has not been crossed at any point. Italian assertions notwithstanding. The only Italian troops in Egypt are not there of their own free will, a semi-official announcement said.

"The only Italians on Egyptian soil are one general and 818 officers of other ranks," the announcement declared. "They are prisoners."

Two divisions of Italian troops are concentrated on the Libyan front in the Bardia area, according to officials. They are probably standing directly on the boundary line, but thus far no crossings have been made or even attempted. British military men scoffed at reports that a quarter-million Italians soon would be flung into a vast offensive toward Alexandria and Cairo and ultimately the Suez Canal.

Italian troops in East Africa are believed to total about 155,000 men, of whom some 30,000 are white. The three invading columns which crossed into British Somaliland on August 4 are believed numerically strong and capable of assimilating the difficult and desert terrain for an attack on Berbera.

"Black" Army To Attack
"Blues" in War Maneuvers

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., Aug. 7.—(INS)—Pennsylvania's National Guard troops—an estimated 14,000 strong—today appeared destined to play a major part in defense of this northern New York area when the "black" army attacks the "blues" in Uncle Sam's gigantic war maneuvers.

Sprawled between Canton, the St. Lawrence River and headquarters at Lisbon, the 28th Division is in a strategic position to resist the forthcoming attack, division staff officers believe.

The Pennsylvanians are in a "natural" spot for the invading army from New England, according to 28th Division military observers who confidently think their prediction will come true.

With this in mind, officers spent today poring over maps of the area and trying to plot where the "blitzkrieg" will come when it is launched later this month.

Meanwhile, the rank and file of the Commonwealth's soldiery started increasing the zip of their footwork to keep up with modern war's new pace. The troops spent the day attempting to master new drill regulations which have sacrificed appearance to speed.

Donovan Served As Special Envoy in Great Britain

LONDON, Aug. 7.—(INS)—Colonel William J. (Wild Bill) Donovan, who returned to the United States Sunday aboard the British transatlantic flying boat Claret, conferred with British Government Ministers in London as a special envoy for President Roosevelt, the London Daily Herald said today.

Donovan consulted King George VI, Prime Minister Winston Churchill, War Secretary Anthony Eden, First Lord of the Admiralty A. V. Alexander, Minister of Supply Herbert Morrison and Minister of Labor Ernest Bevin, the paper said.

He also conferred with Lieut.-Gen. Sir Alan Brooke, Britain's new Home Force Commander-in-Chief, and visited military centers, coast defenses and munitions and ordnance plants, according to the report.

ALLIGATORS IN LOUISIANA

TERRE HAUTE, Ind.—(INS)—When Paul Dresser wrote "On the Banks of the Wabash," he said nothing about alligators, but several of the creatures have been discovered here recently by local conservationists. The tropical reptiles can survive Hoosier winters through their habit of hibernating and can find plenty of food by eating the small fish on the bottom of the river.

U. S. STARTS MOVEMENT
AGAINST 5TH COLUMNISTSPrepare for Vigorous Campaign
Against Propaganda
Agents, and Saboteurs

SUPPORT FROM STATES

By Edward B. Lockett
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—(INS)—Supported by local and State law enforcement agencies, the Federal Government prepared today for a vigorous campaign against foreign propaganda agents, saboteurs and "fifth column" movements within the nation's borders.

Some Justice Department officials, assistant attorney general John Rogge revealed, even favored partial curtailment of the immunity privileges accorded foreign consular agents in the United States.

Rogge backed a drive within the Department for preparation of surveys for the public, showing propaganda activities, if any, carried on by foreign powers within this country, as envisioned by Rogge these surveys would be public documents, would name names, bare finances, and expose methods employed by any and all advocates of foreign, and particularly totalitarian ideologies, active in this country.

Creation of a special government agency to analyze and expose propaganda was recommended by the Federal-State conference on law enforcement problems of national defense, just concluded. The local, state and Federal law enforcement officials attending the two-day meeting, pledged mutual co-operation in stamping out sabotage, espionage and other activities directed against America's defense program. Recommendations approving a firm program to stamp out subversive activities were adopted.

Seek 1,000 Blood Donors
In New Storing Plan

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 7.—The local chapter of the American Red Cross yesterday issued a call for 1,000 volunteers to contribute some of their own blood to help strengthen the nation's defenses.

The volunteers, each of whom will give from a half-pint to a pint, will inaugurate here a new plan for large-scale storage of blood for wartime emergency.

The plan is based on a recent discovery that plasma, the liquid part of blood, free of cells, is as good as whole blood for transfusion in case of shock. But whereas whole blood can be stored only a few days, and cannot be transported without damage, plasma—after being frozen, dried and vacuum-packed—can be kept for years without spoiling, and can be administered on the battlefield.

The technique of storing it is being worked out by Dr. Max Strumia, director of laboratories at Bryn Mawr Hospital. The blood collected by the Red Cross will be sent to him to help him complete his studies.

Some of the plasma collected by Dr. Strumia will be given to the army surgeons, to familiarize them with its use. As soon as all technical details are worked out, perhaps in a couple of months, the plan will be expanded to build up large stores of plasma, with the aid of thousands of volunteers all over the country.

Volunteers, who should be between the ages of 21 and 50 and in good health, may enroll by writing or visiting Red Cross offices, 511 N. Broad street, said Dr. William DeKleine, Red Cross medical consultant.

Scarcely Believable

(By "The Stroller")
I can scarcely believe the story I was told the other day which was to the effect that some residents along the river front throw all of their garbage into the river.

"How do you know?" I asked my informant.
"I have seen garbage floating on the water and I have watched these same houses and have observed that they never place a garbage pail along the curbline for the authorized collector," was the answer.

There is a severe penalty for polluting the river and those who are engaged in doing it are running a great risk of being severely penalized.

PULMOTOR, INHALATOR

CONTRIBUTIONS ASKED

NEWTOWN, Aug. 7.—The subject of securing a pulmotor and inhalator has met with approval of members of Newtown Exchange Club.

Horace Watson, secretary-president, in speaking of the need, informed members that he had interviewed some of the firemen who said they would be willing to house the inhalator and be prepared to use it.

Physicians of the town are interested and were invited to contribute their services too. Mr. Watson made a motion that the Exchange Club sponsor a movement to raise funds to purchase an inhalator and that the club make a contribution of $25.

The motion was carried with the suggestion that other organizations be asked to contribute. All contributions will be given to Horace Watson. The president, A. Kurtz King, welcomed two new members, Herman Davis and Alvin Bishop.

Owing to many people being on vacation it was decided not to have any speakers for the month of August.

The entertainment committee will continue for September, namely: Lewis Fitzgerald, Morris Savidge and Worthington Seese. It was suggested and arranged that the club visit the new Boy Scout Camp in a body. Dr. Roberts suggested taking watermelons as a treat for the boys.

Joseph Lownes, Clinton Greenlee and Marvin Keller were appointed to purchase the melons.

The community service committee with Frank Fabian, chairman, reported progress in reference to the sprinkler situation. Robert LaRue was appointed to represent the Newtown Exchange Club at the district meeting to be held at Norristown in September, when eight clubs will be represented.

Here and There in Bucks County Towns

Gathering at the home of Lucy C. Bean, Danboro, Sunday, the descendants of Moses and Lucetta Barnes Louder had a reunion.

After a dinner served picnic style on the lawn under shade trees surrounding the 140-year-old stone home of the hostess, a short business meeting was held, when the officers were re-elected.

The program was as follows: cornet solo, "America," Fred McCall, Oaklyn; Lord's Prayer; duet, "I Would Be Like Jesus," John and Douglass Way, accompanied by Miss Dorothy Ward, Washington, D. C.

Marriages took place as follows: Kertown, daughter of Mrs. Edith M. Thomas, to Charles A. Heckman, of Summit Lawn, Allentown, July 5th; Miss Constance Kephart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Kephart, Germantown, to John W. Wigglesworth, Philadelphia, May 2nd; Charles Haines, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Haines, Sr., Burlington, to Miss Cecile Balda, Palmyra, N. J., February.

The death of Tobias Louder, son of the late Jordan and Mary Carty Louder, November 8, 1939.

Three births were also reported.

With 275 present, the annual Bucks County Red Men's Association picnic was held Sunday at Elkins Park, near Quakertown.

There were 275 present from West Philadelphia, Langhorne, Willow Grove, Ambler, Bethlehem and Doylestown.

Under Howard Gerhart, supervisor of sports, events of interest were conducted.

The condition of Charles William Lockwood, 21, of Hamilton Square, N. J., pilot of a monoplane that crashed in a wheat field near Richboro, a week ago, is reported as improved at Abington Hospital.

The companion of Lockwood, William J. George, of Peabody, Mass., was killed in the crash.

Despite the absence of J. Leonard Halderman, head of the Doylestown school, who is making a transcontinental tour with his family, the Doylestown School Board met Monday evening, as usual. When Mr. Halderman returns about the middle of the month the school board will hold an extra meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Risser, of West Court street, Doylestown, entertained at a Sunday evening supper at their home; Mr. and Mrs. George Leming and daughter Joan, Philadelphia; the Misses Mary, Leah, Bertha and Lester Risser, Elizabethtown; Mrs. Carrie Krewson, Miss Alice and Harry Krewson; Mrs. Alice S. Chandler, Miss Grace and William F. Chandler, and W. Lester Trauch.

Whether the attendant failed to strap Albert securely to the camel seat or did it so carelessly and negligently that it became loose, is not definitely determined, but the seat did loosen and Albert got his second nose dive in a year as the camel started in motion.

Down to the ground from his high perch on the camel's back came Albert, this time suffering abrasions of the right side of the head and ear and a fracture of the tibial spine of the right knee. His leg was in a cast from August 26, 1939, and the cast was not removed until September 13, 1939.

Now the fracture has healed nicely and Albert Good is going around with his fingers crossed.

Yesterday in the Court of Common Pleas of Bucks County, Judge Calvin S. Boyer approved a petition authorizing settlement of a suit for damages brought by Albert P. Good through his guardian, the Rev. Gustavus H. Bechtold, against the Philadelphia Zoo, for injuries received. The settlement was for $380, agreed upon by both parties. Of this amount $250 will be placed in trust for young Good and the balance will be used to pay hospital and doctor's expenses.

In reaching a settlement it was suggested by one of the attorneys in the case that "suit might be brought against the camel," although it was an innocent ice cream cone in the hands of the camel's attendant, that is said to have caused the camel to suddenly start off and throw young Good off his back.

The Possible Hazards

Washington, Aug. 6.
IT seems a strange thing that a way cannot be found in this grave international situation to do what the vast bulk of the people of this country are eager to do—and that is to aid England in the desperate fight she is making for her life against the attacking Nazi.

It is even stranger when it is so generally conceded that saving England from destruction probably means saving the United States from having the war brought to this side of the Atlantic Ocean.

A CONQUERED England is as clearly a menace to our own safety as is the fact that an unbeaten England would save us the necessity of turning our own country into an armed camp and be the best possible guarantee of peace. Exceedingly few thoughtful people dispute these things. They are too obvious to permit of much argument. Suggestions, such as recently came from Colonel Lindbergh, that we assume the defeat of England—in fact, aid it by putting forth at this time a plan for peace—do not accord with the true sentiment of the American people.

—O—
THAT we should contribute to the downfall of a nation whose interests are fundamentally identical with our own—that we should contribute not only by withholding vital material which could be given but also by discussing co-operation with her prospective conqueror before the battle has been decided—that we should do that is a revolting idea which there is reason to believe most Americans will reject. Crediting Colonel Lindbergh with complete sincerity, nevertheless it is doubtful that he

BRISTOL MAN IS FOUND
DEAD ALONG THE CANALLifeless Body of William J.
Sharkey, 35, Discovered
At 5.40 Today

FUNERAL ON SATURDAY

The lifeless body of a young man found on the path along the canal between Jefferson avenue and Washington street, this morning, was identified as that of William James Sharkey, aged 35, of Buckley street.

Death, according to the report given local police, was due to heart attack. The discovery of the body was made at 5.40 o'clock by King Bell, Race street, and Preston Bell, Spruce street, both colored, as they were enroute to their employment.

The police were summoned, and Dr. James P. Lawler, deputy coroner, notified. The body was immediately removed to the funeral home of the W. I. Murphy Estate.

A short time later Sharkey was identified by his sister, Mrs. Joseph Ferry, Roosevelt street. Relatives stated that Sharkey was apparently well yesterday.

In addition to Mrs. Ferry, the deceased leaves another sister, Mrs. Harry Booz, Buckley street, with whom he resided; and a brother, Charles Sharkey, of Swain street. He was the son of the late William and Elizabeth Sharkey.

The late Bristolian was born in Bristol Township, and had lived in this section throughout his entire life.

The funeral will be held at nine a. m. Saturday, from the Murphy Funeral Home, with High Mass in St. Mark's Church at 10 o'clock. Burial will be made in St. Mark's Cemetery.

President Plans Tour Of New England Naval Bases

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 7.—(INS)—President Roosevelt today laid increasing emphasis on plans for total defense of the U. S. as he organized a tour of New England naval bases and simultaneously announced a "home defense guard" program involving voluntary enlistment by World War veterans.

Persistent reports were afloat around the Hyde Park Estate that Mr. Roosevelt intended to leave late this week.

Hope For Postponement
Of Conscription Battle

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—(INS)—Proceeding under debate limitation, the Senate today hoped to postpone a spectacular battle over the military conscription program and pass its less controversial companion measure—legislation authorizing the President to mobilize the National Guard for one year's training.

Senate administration leaders, already behind schedule on the two vital sections of the defense program, clapped a debate restriction on their colleagues in an effort to approve the guard mobilization by nightfall.

They predicted passage of the Guard bill in several hours if they can separate it from the issue of compulsory military training in peacetime. But there was little indication that the Senate will confine itself to the business at hand as it threatened to again "get out of control" over the conscription issue.

There were intimations, too, of more bitter clashes between opponents and proponents of conscription that postponed a final vote on the Guard mobilization bill yesterday and resulted in the most rough-and-tumble debate in the Senate in years.

VOCATIONAL CLASSES TO BE ESTABLISHED
HERE TO AID DEFENSESchool Board To Make Application To State For the Project

TO TRAIN WORKERS

Classes Will Be Held Three
Nights Each Week in High School Building

Adult classes in vocational training as part of the National Defense program are to be established here, in accordance with action taken last night by the Bristol Borough School Board.

The classes will be held in the Bristol high school, three evenings each week, with the period being for two hours each evening. The first classes to be opened will teach blue-print reading.

The classes will be open to all those who desire to enter and will not be restricted to any one industry. Other courses will be established as soon as there are sufficient students and the details can be arranged.

The plan was suggested to the school board last night by Franklin Wallin, of the Rehm & Haas Company. Mr. Wallin gave a brief resume of a conversation he had with a representative of the State Department of Education, who had outlined the plan. As a means of gaining information as to the number of prospects who might be interested in the classes a notice was posted in the Rehm & Haas plant and 75 stated that they were interested.

The School Board voted to make application for the project whereby all that the Board will be required to do is to furnish the classrooms, and heating and lighting. The government will pay the teachers' salaries.

The entire project was referred to Warren P. Snyder, superintendent of schools, who will immediately begin to set up an organization and develop the plan. It is to be understood that the classes are not to be limited to the employees of any one industry but are open to all who desire to enter. Courses other than blue-print reading will be established as soon as there is sufficient demand.

S. Bradley Ardrey, second ward, was named by the board to fill the unexpired term of Keith M. Rosser, who resigned several months ago. Mr. Ardrey was named as a member of the property committee.

Emil Metzger, treasurer, submitted his annual report for the period ending July 3rd. John Johnson, newly-elected treasurer to succeed Mr. Metzger, submitted a supplemental report dating from July 3rd. Both reports were received and ordered filed.

Arthur P. Brady, chairman of property committee, reported that progress was being made on changing three rooms at the high school into two large rooms. He also reported a number of other improvements being made to the school buildings which have not as yet been completed.

Charles Weik, of the property committee, reported having visited the Jefferson avenue and Bath street buildings and recommended some changes in the chimney at the Jefferson avenue building.

The resignation of H. S. Storms as a member of the faculty at the Washington street building was received. Miss Mabel Rook, Frankford, a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, was elected to fill the vacancy. Miss Elizabeth Forsyth will become principal of the building.

The Board voted to purchase two General Electric refrigerators from Thomas Profy & Son, Mr. Profy being the lowest bidder. The price was $109.90 each.

Emil Metzger resigned as a member of the Board.

The only absentee director was Mrs. William Harding.

CORRECT USE OF FLAG

Several queries have been received from readers concerning the correct method of displaying the American flag. According to the United States Flag Association, the following rules should be observed:

When the flag is displayed against a wall, the blue field should be uppermost and to the observer's left.

When displayed over the middle of a street, the blue field should be to the North in an East and West Street. It should be to the East in a street running North and South.

When suspended over the sidewalk on a pole extending from a house, the flag is hoisted out from the building, blue field first.

The flag should never be draped in any form.

THE POST WAR WAR

If Hitler is eventually triumphant in his attempt to bring all of Europe under his sway, the real work will have just begun. It is one thing to throw armed forces superior in equipment and training against weaker enemies and emerge successful. It is quite another to maintain order in all the conquered territories and enlist the co-operation of various peoples to a point where either political or economic unity is feasible.

Reports of revived passive resistance in Moravia and Bohemia betray the feeling of the Czech people. Because of unrest in The Netherlands, the German high commissioner, the notorious Seyss-Inquart, has decreed the establishment of German courts to try Dutch citizens on charges of crimes against "the general interest." Norwegians are far enough from Berlin to indulge their resentment in times of stress.

As the days pass and the French begin to realize what has happened to them and why, it is improbable that they will accept docilely the vassalage Hitler has decreed for them. And, if Great Britain succumbs to the blitzkrieg, the difficulty of keeping the English temperament always under control is not hard to imagine.

To combat passive resistance and periodic disturbances in the conquered states, Hitler has two weapons. One is military occupation, coupled with severe penalties for all who engage in activities against Nazi sovereignty. But if he has to police Czechoslovakia, Poland, Norway, Belgium, Holland, France and Great Britain in perpetuity, the military burden Germany has had to bear during the war will continue through the peace. There is serious doubt whether either the Nazi financial resources or man power could stand the strain.

To relieve this pressure, Hitler is certain to employ the second weapon—economic compulsion. By controlling the sources of production—both of raw materials and manufactured goods—he will be able to impose on Europe an economic dictatorship that will sap the strength of non-cooperation movements until military occupation is no longer necessary.

And if the Havana conference fails to develop means of competing with the totalitarian bloc, Hitler will stand a good chance of not only ruling Europe but also of extending his influence to the Americas.

For ages men accepted plausible theories and did no thinking. Then science said: "Here's the right theory." So they accepted it and felt educated and again quit thinking.

Yardley Rector's Daughter
Weds An Ohio Clergyman

YARDLEY, Aug. 7.—Miss Dorothy Pugh, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Walter Cresson Pugh, became the bride of the Rev. William Buckingham Gentleman, son of Mrs. Elizabeth B. Gentleman, and the late Frederick W. Gentleman, of Cambridge, Mass., at a mid-summer wedding in St. John's Church, Gloucester, Mass., on Saturday afternoon. The ceremony was performed by the bride's father, rector of St. Andrew's Church, here, and for a number of years summer rector at St. John's. He was assisted by the Rt. Rev. Henry Wise Hobson, bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Southern Ohio, in which Mr. Gentleman's parish is located. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Cresson Pugh.

Miss Frances Pugh, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were: Miss Grace Huntley, Rockville Center, L. I.; fiancée of Cresson Pugh; Miss Frances Eastburn, cousin of the bride, of Bristol; Miss Margaret Colmore, Puerto Rico; Miss Harriet Lundgaard, Rochester, N. Y.; Miss Eleanor Beane, Cambridge, Mass.; and Miss Patricia Ham-bright, Bronxville, N. Y.

The Rev. Thomas Van Braam Barrett, chaplain of Kenyon College, Gambier, O., was best man. The ushers were: Horatio B. Tower, Jr., Wollaston, Mass.; the Rev. Robert Lloyd Hackwell, Waynesville, O.; the Rev. Almus M. Thorpe, Columbus, O.; John Parke, Amherst, Mass.; John Carpenter, Folly Cove, Mass.; and John Ham-ley, Brattleboro, Vt.

A reception at "Dotcrest" Pigeon Cove, Mass., the summer home of the bride's parents, followed the ceremony, after which the couple left for a wedding trip. Upon their return they will spend sometime at "Dotcrest" before leaving for Cincinnati, where Mr. Gentleman is rector of All Saints Church.

Miss Pugh was graduated from Wellesley College in June. Mr. Gentleman is a graduate of Harvard University, class of 1928, and the General Theological Seminary, New York City.

ON THE SCREENS

GRAND THEATRE

"Earthbound," an amazing and fascinating drama centering about the ghost of a man who can't realize he is dead and tries to make his widow see, hear and understand him so he can prove his faithfulness to her and save his best friend from the guillotine, opened yesterday at the Grand Theatre.

This picture, featuring Warner Baxter and Andrea Leeds is full of spectacular film magic unlike anything heretofore seen on the screen. "Earthbound" is the strange tale of a murdered man who lives on after death, haunted by the friends he knew in life. The film has many light comedy moments which serve to lighten its dramatic tension.

RITZ

A prolific composer as well as an expert musician, Smiley "Frog" Burnette, popular comedian featured in "Rancho Grande," western coming today to the Ritz Theatre recently had his second songbook published. The songbook comprises outstanding selections which have been featured in Republic's musical westerns.

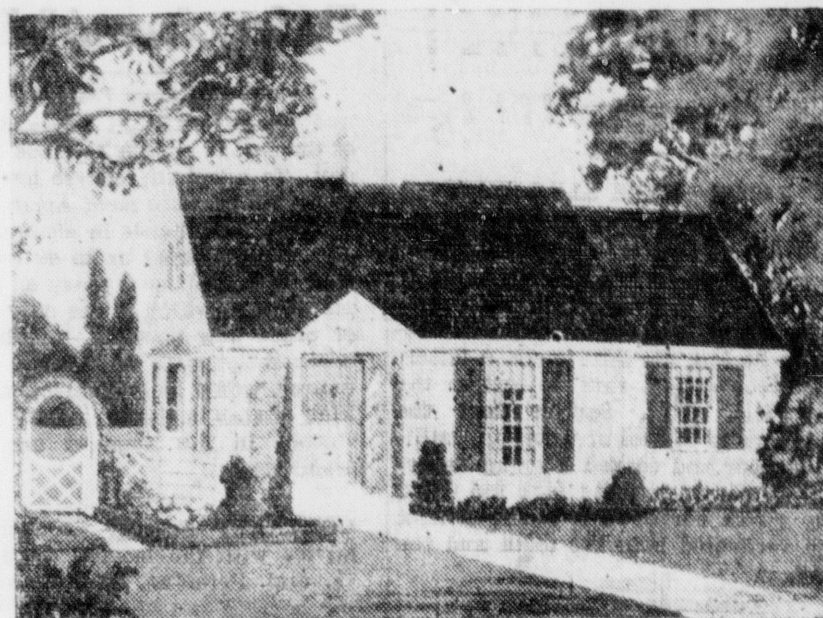

In "Rancho Grande," Smiley is featured vocally in a new composition of his own entitled "You Can Take The Boy Out of the Country."

BRISTOL THEATRE

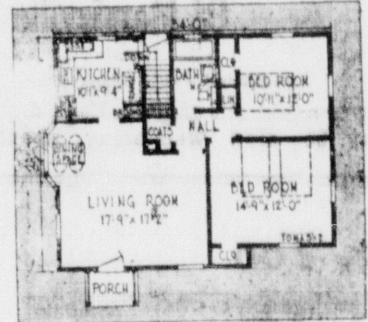

Johnny Downs, featured leading man in "Bad Boy," at the Bristol Theatre, has been in motion pictures since he was a small child. Johnny was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., on October 15, 1915, and he was educated chiefly by private tutors. As a youngster, he appeared in Winkler, Glenn Tryon, and Charley Chase comedies, but he won his greatest distinction in the Our Gang series.

Raymond Massey is the star of an extraordinary screenplay and Joan Marion will be seen as his sympathetic wife in "Black Limelight," which will open at the Bristol Theatre today.

A Popular Architectural Design

HERE is a house designed in accordance with one of the most popular American styles of architecture—the Colonial Bungalow. In floor plan this house is most convenient with all rooms rotating around a center hall and having adequate wall space for the largest pieces of furniture. The windows at the front, placed at one side of the door, and the bedroom roof in the same plane with the roof over the rest of the house, creates an illusion of greater length. Inquiries relative to this plan should be addressed to the National Lumber Manufacturers Association, 1337 Connecticut Avenue, Washington, D. C., and should refer to the "Tomas."

TRUCK OWNERS WANT

Certified Proof
On the longest test run ever conducted under the supervision of the A.A.A., a stock Chevrolet 1 1/2-ton truck turned in a marvelous performance record. These facts are clearly outlined in a booklet entitled "Says Who?" You may obtain it from your Chevrolet dealer or by writing to Chevrolet Motor Division, General Motors Sales Corp., General Motors Building, Detroit, Mich.

Chevrolet trucks lead in sales because they have the most desirable balance of power, economy and durability—power to do the job well, economy to do the job at low cost, and durability to stay on the job. That all adds up to value—exceptional value that has kept Chevrolet trucks out in front in sales—leading again in 1940, as they have led year after year. Consider modernizing some of your trucking equipment now—all models and types of Chevrolet trucks are still available at today's low price level.

LAWRENCE ONE OF QUARTET TO ENTER QUARTER-FINALS

Rain Interrupts Games At Trenton Courts in City
Tennis Tournament

TO CONTINUE TONIGHT

Kuser Turns Back Swayne,
6-3, 7-5; Lawrence To Meet Green

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 7.—Just before rain interrupted the games in the fourth round, Eddie Moylan, Fritz Kuser, John Talbot and Herb Lawrence entered the quarter-finals of the Trenton men's tennis tournament at the Cadwalader Park courts, last evening.

The rain stopped two of the matches, but these will be completed tonight if weather proves satisfactory.

Kuser came to grips with Norman Swayne, and Kuser, nine-time winner of the crown, turned Swayne back 6-3, 7-5.

Moylan, the 18-year-old defending champion, ran into unexpected difficulty against Bill Ehret. The youngster erred time after time in the opening set. Moylan took the opener after a one-hour struggle, 7-5, then finished, 6-1.

Louie Applestein, facing Talbot, a former finalist, started his match in high gear. The Penn netman pulled away to a 3-0 lead. Talbot, however, steadied, moved up to 4-all and ran off two games for the set. The George School instructor continued to out-steady Applestein to capture the second heat, 6-2.

Lawrence, two-time winner of the crown from Bristol, turned in his most impressive performance of the tournament, eliminating Bill VanNess, Roehling, 6-0, 6-3.

Lawrence will oppose Nelson Green, a fellow Bristolian, tonight. The last time this pair met here, in 1935, Green defeated Lawrence in four sets to win the Trenton title. Lawrence, who has been playing more tennis than Green lately, will be favored to win tonight in two, or maybe three sets.

Green and Jim Allen, of Princeton, were idle last night, having moved a round ahead of the field Monday. Allen, 1939 runner-up, will be severely tested tonight when he takes the court against Kuser, his doubles partner.

Jack Hollister and Clark Johnson were leading in the two duels interrupted by rain. Hollister had split the first two sets with Harry Pfizinger, 6-4, 4-6, 1-0, when rain interrupted. Eddie Moylan defeated Bill Ehret, 7-5, 6-1.

Clark Johnson led Jerry Levy, 3-6, 6-5, 4-1, when rain interrupted. Herb Lawrence defeated Bill VanNess, 6-0, 6-3.

Last night's results and tonight's pairings:

MEN'S SINGLES
Fourth Round
Fritz Kuser defeated Norman Swayne, 6-3, 7-5.
John Talbot defeated Lou Applestein, 6-4, 6-2.
Jack Hollister led Harry Pfizinger, 6-4, 4-6, 1-0, when rain interrupted.
Eddie Moylan defeated Bill Ehret, 7-5, 6-1.
Clark Johnson led Jerry Levy, 3-6, 6-5, 4-1, when rain interrupted.
Herb Lawrence defeated Bill VanNess, 6-0, 6-3.

TEXACO AND CROYDON BATTLE TO SCORELESS TIE

In the fastest ball game played in the Bristol Suburban League this season, Croydon Y. M. A. and the Voltz-Texaco nines battled to a scoreless deadlock on Landreth's field last evening.

The Y's outlit the gasoleers, 4-3, but the Voltz team passed up a grand opportunity to win the tilt in the final frame when they loaded the sacks with two runs as the result of a double by Panini and walks to Cooper and Kramers. But Morgan retired the last batter, Carter, on a fly to center.

Jimmy Cooper did the hurting for the Voltz team while Snyder pitched four innings for Y. M. A. and Manager Morgan hurled the last canto.

FALSE TEETH SAVE SKIFF

POINT JUDITH, R. I.—(INS)—Capt. Henry Sawyer didn't have anything to do with the September hurricane that lashed New England in 1938. But because he lost his false teeth, a fisherman recovered a skiff he lost in the hurricane. Capt. Sawyer lost the clenchers in 15 feet of water in Gaillie harbor and coaxed a young fisherman to dive down and look for them. The youth borrowed a diving helmet and recovered both the teeth and the skiff.

The Great Game of Politics

understands the full implications of the sort of speech he made Sunday. To adopt the course he suggests would leave most Americans hanging their heads in shame. To do what he wants us to do now—that is, to propose a peace on German terms, which is the only sort of peace now possible—and begin co-operation with the German conqueror, would be equivalent to the kind of stab in the back Italy gave France in the hour of her extremity.

CONTRAST Colonel Lindbergh's advice with the moving words of General Pershing, who, knowing the horrors and hardships of war, is as keen as anyone in the nation to keep war from coming again to America. This end, he pointed out, can be achieved only by keeping the British fleet from falling into hostile hands, and that can be prevented only by saving England from defeat. Solemnly he warns that that beleaguered nation is terribly in need of aid which, "short of war," we can supply; that if we supply it without delay it may mean the difference between survival and extinction.

IT IS, he says, in our own interests to furnish this aid. If a proper method can be found to make available some of our "immense reserve" of overage destroyers, left over from the last war, there is no surer way of safeguarding the freedom and security of this country. The most acute need of the British today is for destroyers to convoy merchant ships, escort warships, hunt submarines and repel invasion. We have the destroyers. It is, said General Pershing, our duty to ourselves to supply them—a duty from which Americans "should not shrink because of possible hazards."

THERE is slight doubt that General Pershing thus points the way to action which most Americans would like to see taken. There is no doubt at all that President Roosevelt would like to act along that line. The difficulties, of course, are great. There are the naval experts who say we cannot spare even a rowboat. There are the isolationists who insist that, no matter what the method, to supply destroyers would be an act of war. There are the members of Congress eager to charge evasion of our neutrality laws. And there are others.

NEVERTHELESS, those who look the facts fully in the face know that the course General Pershing advocates is not only the one course by which we can retain our self-respect but actually the course of enlightened selfishness—the surest way of keeping war away from this continent. Perhaps the President will find a way to overcome these obstacles and do what every friend he has knows he wants to do—the obvious thing consistent with his utterances on the international situation and the foreign policy he has laid down. At any rate, he ought not to be deterred, as General Pershing says, by the "possible hazards."

AFTER all, what are the "possible hazards"? Put it on the lowest possible grounds. Suppose Germany does conquer England; is it going to make her any more friendly to us—is it going to render us any more immune from attack—to know that we did not go to the aid of the English because we were afraid of the "possible hazards" than to know that, "short of a war declaration," we did give her all the aid we could? It is absurd to think so. We cannot insure the "friendly co-operation" urged by Colonel Lindbergh by "shrinking from the possible hazards" any more than Holland and Denmark and Belgium insured it by strict preservation of their neutrality. We cannot gain the Nazi friendship by shrinking from the hazards of helping England, but we can earn their complete contempt.

Thirteen Puffs on a Cigarette

"Look at all the newspaper advertisements, the color pages in the magazines, the billboards—and listen to the radio programs! You and I have to pay for all that when we buy advertised cigarettes!"

Thus certain factions—some well-meaning but misinformed; others with selfish or un-American motives—harangue American business methods.

Business does not deny that the cost of advertising is figured into the price of its products. But, for example, advertising sells many packages of cigarettes instead of a few. Hence manufacturers produce cigarettes in vast quantities and at less cost per pack. These savings, passed on in lower prices, actually make advertising cost us nothing.

The actual cost of advertising is but a trifle. For example, the cost of advertising a package of popular cigarettes is equal only to the price of half of one cigarette, or, about thirteen deep draws on the cigarette!

It requires the value of 10 cigarettes to pay the taxes, leaving the remainder of the price for raw materials, labor and profit.

If cigarettes were not advertised, they not only would cost much more—but, you and I would be unable to get our favorite brands except at a few stores in the largest cities.
